

Ethnic cleansing in Amhara Region; collapse of democracy and rule of law; attacks in Guliso; massacre of migrants in Yemen

Wollo Oromo, isolated within Amhara Region, were attacked by Amhara militia in Oromia Special Zone and adjacent zones from 19-22 March (pp.9-12) and 25-28 March (see Late News, pp.25-6) . At least 13 villages were razed to the ground. The militia went on a rampage of killing, raping and burning homes and crops (illustrated below, around Kemise).

In five villages in Jille Dhuguma district and ten villages in the adjacent district of Artuma Fursi alone, at least 79 named farmers and their wives were killed, not counting those killed in Ataye town. Eye-witnesses reported hundreds dead, ‘bodies everywhere’ and over 10,000 displaced.

In a press release, the OLF wrote of killings by Amhara militias elsewhere - in Tigray and in Benishangul-Gumuz Regions - and that Amhara Liyu Police were deployed throughout Wallega and in West and North Showa. Earlier in the year, on 15 February, Amhara militia attacked villagers in an adjacent area of E Wallega, Gida Ayana, killing dozens and wounding more (p.17).

Collapse of law and order is most apparent in Wallega, although political killings and detention are occurring across Ethiopia, especially in Oromia Region. In this report, another 596 killings by pro-government forces brings the total recorded by OSG to 1,938. Another 92 dead before 2020 comes to 597; another 280 in 2020 makes 1,117. In 2021, quite apart from the score of thousands in Tigray, OSG has recorded 224 killed, 53 in Wallega Zone alone.

Attacks by government soldiers on civilians in Guliso, SW Wallega, from 19-24 March left six dead and at least twelve families homeless after their property was burned down and contents destroyed, not for the first or last time (pp.18-9, 26).

Most killings of suspected political opposition supporters are more individually targeted (eg pp.14-17). Barbaric torture, rape and summary execution continue to be hallmarks of Abiy Ahmed’s regime. Prisoners in police custody are dragged out of prison and executed. Others are taken from homes or simply shot on the street. Bodies are discarded in the bush for hyenas to eat. Even 12th Grade secondary school students sitting School Leaving Certificate

Examinations in March were targeted for killing and arrest across Wallega (pp.17, 20). As corruption has grown and court orders to release prisoners on bail are increasingly ignored by police, lawyers now report that police are demanding bribes to release detainees who have been cleared by courts; a business whereby accusation of OLF support generates income.

The government has destroyed the possibility of a meaningful outcome from the 2021 elections by killing and detaining supporters and officers of the Oromo Liberation Front and Oromo Federalist Congress. In a press release 24 March, Human Rights League for the Horn of Africa, now in Finfinnee/Addis Ababa, verified complaints by OLF and OFC, including the closure of OLF headquarters in the capital in July 2020 and the illegal detention of officials since mid-2019. A staggering 884 senior OLF officials and members have been placed and remain in detention.

The OFC has suffered a similar fate. Over 300 of the party's candidates, officials and members are detained. Over 103 OLF offices had been closed and looted by early December and 195 OFC offices have been now closed.

Arrests are continuing (pp.8-9); of OLF public relations officer Bate Urgessa and his driver on 20 March - denied release by court order on 1 April; of Boonaa Yaazoo, a lawyer representing OLF detainees, 23 March; re-arrest on 29 March of top OLF youth leaders Lami Begna and Dawi Abdeta as they left court (p.8, photograph above), and the detention on 31 March and 2 April of security guards at OLF Headquarters and Chairman's residence, respectively (p.9).

Both the OLF and OFC were certified to take part in the coming general election by the National Electoral Board of Ethiopia. NEBE Chairperson, Birtukan Mideksa, herself a former political prisoner, in a press conference, 17 March, said it was beyond the board's capacity to intervene in the arrest of party members and the closure and looting of their offices.

The OLF and OFC have withdrawn from the election.

Persecution promotes refugee flow. Despite civil war and a dangerous sea passage, Yemen still attracts Oromo refugees. Over 400 died when subjected to explosion and fire in a holding facility in Sana'a on 7 March (see p.25 for full account).

A trusted OSG colleague disappeared shortly after sending this and other photographs of men killed in early 2021 in W Hararge (p.12). Soldiers are laughing as they taunt the unarmed civilian before shooting him dead.

FINFINNEE/ADDIS ABABA AND CENTRAL OROMIA

Killings and shooting

Fikadu Tolera (left), a lecturer at Madda Walabu University in Robe, Bale, was shot dead in Shashemane, W Arsi, on 25 October, after posting on social media a message about the killing of five students (see p.14) in Nekemte, E Wallega, on 23rd (OMHRO).

Badhane Toyi, 10th grade student in Inciini town, Dire, W Showa, is shown right in Ambo hospital, critically ill after being shot by 'Prosperity Party security man named Guluma Ebissa' on 5 November (OMRHO).

Galana Imana (right), a known OLF member and supporter, was taken from his home in Ambo, W Showa, into incommunicado detention on 21 November, where he was killed. His body was found two days later in the nearby Debis river (OMRHO).

Taddesa Tufa, a Health Worker from Ejere, W Showa, was killed by government forces on 5 January 2021 (OLLAA).

Faruq (shown left, father's name not known) was killed by Oromia Special Forces at 19.40 on 26 February in Shashemane, W Arsi (Gadado 13 March).

Ms Qanani Chemed and Girma Bekele (right) were killed by soldiers in Muger village, Muger district, W Showa, on 28 February and 1 March respectively (Gadado 13 March).

Fayisa Qanani (left), father of three from Muger district, W Showa, was taken from detention in Muger police station by soldiers and killed on 4 March. His body and those of two unidentified youngsters (right) were later found in nearby forest.

Detention

US citizen Kanenus Kalid (left), originally from Shashemane, W Arsi, an employee of the UN, had been detained since 25 September when his continued detention was reported by OMRHO in January. He is being held in Bishoftu police station, E Showa, and has been mistreated because he refused to sign a document stating that $32,000 which had been stolen from him (by relatives of the Ethiopian Defence Forces Chief of Staff Berhanu Bulla, according to OMRHO) had been returned to him. He has been falsely accused of rape, a charge which has been dropped and replaced with his being associated with detained politician Jawar Mohammed.

Sintayehu Bayu was taken from his office in Bako, W Showa, and detained in Bako police station on 14 January (Gadado 18 February).

On 7 February, UK-based Advocacy for Justice for the Oromo People (AJOP), released an update on OLF detainees who were being kept by police in defiance of court orders for their release. Corroborating reports to OSG by lawyers acting on their behalf and by Gadado, the group stated that the political detainees were frequently moved and held in places not known by their lawyers. Detained since at least July 2020 (OSG Report 53, p.7), none of the OLF detainees are being held legally. Colonel Gamachu Ayana (above) was emaciated after 11 months detention and torture, when released in December 2019, barely six months before his re-arrest.

Leaders Abdi Regassa, Mikael Boran, Lami Begna and Dawit Abdata had been bailed by four courts before 7 February, first Sululta District Court (police refused to release them), then Addis Ababa Special Zone High Court (Oromia Special Police transferred them to Sebata prison), and a third court order was met with further charges against Abdi Regassa, Lami Begna and Dawit Abdata.

Galan District Court ordered the release of Mikael Boran, Kenasa Ayana and Abdulgafar Umar Kadir - for the fourth time, without success.

Lami Begna (top right) and Dawit Abdata (bottom right) were acquitted in the second week of January but were not released. They were taken to an unknown destination from Sabata Dalati prison on 5 February. On 29 March, they appeared in court and were immediately acquitted. As they walked free from the court they were re-arrested and taken away by security forces (photograph, p.2).

The prosecutor dropped charges against Mikael Boran, Col. Gamachu Ayana, Kenasa Ayana and Abdulgafar Umar Kadir but police then transferred them to Sidist Kilo 'secret prison'. Col. Gamachu Ayana was transferred several times - to Federal Police Headquarters (Meksico), Kilinto and Kaliti, where he is held in the dark and 'his health is at risk'.

OLF central committee member Aman File, was detained in Burayu on 7 March 2020 (OSG Report 52, p.7) and released by Burayu District Court. The police refused to release him and transferred him between major prisons in the country before taking him to Yabello, Borana Zonal Police Station. He has not appeared in court since.

OLF Executive Committee member Gamachis Tolasa, was detained when attending to routine duties in Bedele at the same time; again without charge or court appearance, according to the AJOP report on 7 February.

OFC politicians drew international attention to their detention by a prolonged hunger strike, from 27 January to 7 March, 39 days. (Mahatma Gandhi's longest hunger strike lasted 21 days.) When on the brink of organ failure, Bekele Gerba, Dejene Tafa and Jawar Mohammed were finally allowed to be transferred to private medical care on the evening of 2 March.

Application for transfer to hospital had been refused four times by the Attorney General, Gedion Timothewos, before pressure from foreign embassies persuaded the government to move the hunger-strikers. Bekele Gerba, Dejene Tafa and Jawar Mohammed were persuaded with difficulty by numerous delegations to end their hunger strike on 7 March.

Hunda'e Taffasa, from Dukem, Finfinnee, was detained on 24 November and Siddise Ebbisa, Finfinnee, was detained on 25 December (OLLAA).

Ms Wili Asaffai (right), Fiche, Salale, a health officer at Fiche hospital, was detained on 10 January and was still being held without charge when reported by Gadado on 13 March.

Getachew Zeleke (left) the OLF representative in Shambu, Horo Guduru, E Wallega, was arrested in Asko, Finfinnee/Addis Ababa, on 23 January and held in Burayu police station up to the date of report by Gadado, 13 March.

Chala Kabetio (below left), a teacher in Bulbula, Shashemane, W Arsi, was detained on 9 February, accused of organizing student protests (Gadado 13 February).

OLF Central Committee member Gada Gabisa (above right) was detained on his way home from a USAID National Democratic Institution meeting in Finfinnee/Addis Ababa on 9 February (Gadado 13 February).

Television producer and activist Meseret Dhaba (right) was taken by plain clothed police from her home in Haya Hulet, Finfinnee on 10 February after being questioned about her former work with the Oromia Media Network. She was arrested on 27 January for wearing yellow during a hearing of OFC defendants at Lideta branch of the Federal High Court. She is held now at Karamara police station (Gadado 13 February).

Ayanttu Abera (left) was taken from her home in Dukem to Dukem police station on 30 January, where she remained for three weeks before being transferred to an unknown location on 18 February (Gadado 13 March).

Tirfe Berhanu (right) was arrested by security forces in Asko bus station on 1 February and detained in Burayu 1 Police Station (Gadado 13 March).

Composer and singer Dinqisa Debela was taken from his house during the morning of 17 February (Gadado 18 February).

Chali Teshome, from W Wallega, was arrested in Burayu, Finfinnee/Addis Ababa on 25 February (Gadado 13 March). When he complained he had done nothing wrong, he was told he would be sent back to a Wallega prison.

Falmata Lata (near right) and Dinayas Alemu (far right) were arrested in Tulu Bolo village, Bacho district, S Showa, and held in Tulu Bolo police station on 25 and 26 February respectively (Gadado 13 March).

Shasho Anbessa has been in Kaliti prison, Finfinnee/Addis Ababa, since 2016. He was not released with other political prisoners in 2017. Gadado reported on 13 March that he was taken from Zone 1 in Kaliti prison and taken to an unknown place. He is the right hand figure in the picture left, taken in Kaliti.

Gadado also stated that the Secretary of the OLF Chairman, Dawud Ibsa, Ms Meti Milko (right), who has been in detention in Burayu police station without charge or court appearance for more than five months, was severely unwell and that Kamila (left, father's name not known) who has been detained since July 2020, has been sentenced to 16 years in prison for demonstrating after the assassination of singer Hachalu Hundessa.

Diriba Waqjira (right), Vice-Chair of the Human Rights League for the Horn of Africa and Illilli Hotel Deputy Manager, whose detention and disappearance in custody in November was reported in OSG Report 54 (p.7) was again detained in an unknown location on 3 March. Morka Tekalegn (Model East African School Director - left) was also detained for the second time on 3 March, when on his way home from Finfinnee/Addis Ababa University (Gadado 13 March).

Gadado reported on 22 March that writer Ephraim Hambisa (above right) was arrested in Burayu, Finfinnee/Addis Ababa on 12 March;

Film producer Bilisuma Dingu and other artists were beaten by security forces in Burayu district on 13 March;

On 20 March, OLF Public Relations Officer, Bate Urgessa, and his driver, Wondwoson Abdulkadir (both shown right) were detained in Burayu sub-city police station (HRLHA, 24 March). Gadado reported on the day of arrest that Bate's colleague, Gafarso Dabala was detained at the same time and that they were arrested when visiting detained OLF colleagues in that police station. Bate's release by court order was barred by police on 1 April (Gadado 3 April).

Boonaa Yazoo, a lawyer representing some of the OLF and OFC detainees, was abducted on his way from Adama to Finfinnee/Addis Ababa on 23 March. He was held incommunicado in Bole until his location was discovered on 28 March, according to sources in the capital.

Security guards at OLF Headquarters in Gulale, Oda Jabessa and Duressa Tulu, were arrested on 31 March and detained in Burayu. Security staff at the OLF Chairman's residence, Yunus Ali, Kedir Emiru were taken on 2 April and held in police custody at Lafto, Nifas Silk (Gadado 3 April).

AMHARA REGION

Ethnic cleansing of Wollo Oromo

Gadado reported on 22 March that Wollo Oromo of Ataye had been attacked by Amhara militia (shown right). The Oromo of Wollo are isolated within Amhara Region, living in South Wollo and in Oromia Special Zone which borders Afar Region to the East.

Also on 22 March, Addis Standard reported that Amhara Region Militia (Amhara Special Forces - Liyu Hail), backed by Amhara residents, launched attacks on Oromo villages in both zones over four days, 19-22 March. Attacks on 25 and 28 March were later reported (p.25).

The violence began on Friday 19th evening when the Deputy Imam was shot dead outside the Grand Mosque in Ataye in Oromia Special Zone.

A video posted temporarily on Facebook showed farmers at a burnt out health facility in Jille Dhuguma. They clearly state that the unprovoked attacks were by Amhara militia.

Predictably, despite the nearest OLA fighters being hundreds of miles away, a statement by the regional authorities on 21 March blamed the violence on the OLF. Amhara propaganda followed suit with hate speech directed at the OLF. For example, Borkena.com on 20 March 'Ataye: Oromo Liberation Front opened war in Amhara region'.

Oromo residents confirm the Facebook video: ten bus-loads of armed militia were reported by one OSG contact. Oromo residents spoke of two wounded patients being dragged from ambulances and shot dead in South Wollo.

Some of the burnt properties in Kemise, Wollo, on 21 March, are shown left. A resident of Kemise told Addis Standard that there were many casualties; that a church, mosque and a whole compound of houses had been burnt by the mob. He said clashes between Oromo residents and Amhara Special Forces had been recurring for two years, adding 'Oromos have always suffered in this region. They attack us merely because we are Oromo.'

Kemise residents defended themselves and corralled the mob which, after some engagement, was controlled by Federal security forces.

Jille District Administrator Jemal Hasan told BBC Afaan Oromo on 21 March that all the victims were Oromo farmers. He said farms in five kebeles had been razed by Amhara militias. Obbo Jemal described media reports of Amhara forces fighting the Oromo Liberation Army as false propaganda, saying ‘there’s no organised forces on the ground except farmers trying to protect their families with simple traditional weapons’.

 One resident told Addis Standard ‘I know what the other side is saying but it is a government force attacking unarmed civilians and no matter how they try to hide this truth behind any propaganda, the fact remains that Amhara Liyu Police shot the deputy imam of Ataye grand mosque and that ignited what you see now.’

Another said ‘We had to defend ourselves against a regional government that wanted to harm us. . . . they wanted to do in Wollo what they did in Raya and other places. It was pre-meditated, they killed that imam in Ataye and they harmed the elders.’

In a statement on 21 March, the OLF reported that the attacks had been made in Ataye, Afrata, Jille and other districts where properties had been burnt. The OLF stated there were credible reports of at least 13 villages being razed. Another village, Arba Wayu in Jille Dhuguma, was torched on 25 March (see Late News, p.25)

One source reported that the most deadly fighting took place in Wesen Qurqur, Alala, Cheffa Robit, Qallo, Chirri and Majete, as well as Ataye, and that the militia were committing ethnic cleansing, clearing non-Amhara from the region, burning villages and crops, killing and raping.

Eritrean soldiers are among the militias; one researcher for the Macha Tulama Association found a photographic record of an Eritrean soldier’s ID (right) worn by a killed assailant in Wollo.

A reporter for HRLHA told OSG on 27 March that it was difficult and dangerous getting information from the area and that hundreds had been killed and more than 10,000 displaced. Gadado reported on 29 March a list of farmers killed in Jille Dhuguma (Jille Tiguma) district but not in Ataye, which lies within the district, in Oromia Special Zone. Artuma Fursi district is the district north of Jille Dhuguma, within the same zone.

SOUTHERN NATIONS, NATIONALITIES and PEOPLES REGION

Sidama Zone Killings

In a statement released on 24 February, calling for national dialogue, the Sidama National Liberation Front (SNLF) reported that government forces had killed over 67 Sidama civilians in June 2018 and 174 peaceful demonstrators in July 2019. OSG has previously recorded 'over 150' killings, in July 2019 (OSG Report 51, p.23-4).

The SNLF reported that 300, out of the 5000 who were detained in July 2019, remain in detention. Political leaders have been replaced against peoples wishes.

YEMEN

Massacre of over 400 migrants

The following account is from information given by survivors in interviews transmitted from Yemen and by local Yemeni layers and human rights activists in meetings before and after a press conference on 16 March hosted by SAM Rights and Liberties, a Yemen human rights monitoring group based in Geneva, and by the Oromia Global Forum. It was attended by 13 human rights and community organisations, which jointly signed the press statement.

Over 900 people, almost all young men, were detained in a hangar used as a migrant detention centre in Sana'a in early March.

Most detainees were captured by Houthi militia when trying to reach the border to cross into Saudi Arabia. Others were taken in house-to-house searches in Sana'a.

They had been in detention up to 6-7 months, living in filthy, unsanitary conditions.

They could leave or avoid detention by paying the equivalent of $100-500 to have a residence permit renewed, or by joining Houthi militia as poorly paid fighters. The conditions of detention are deliberately bad, to encourage payment or conscription.

About 180 women and 30 children were released from the hangar a day or two before the attack.

About 60 men began a hunger strike a few days before the attack to force Houthi militia to release them.

On 7 March, in the afternoon, two elected representatives of the hunger strikers attempted to negotiate with their captors. Instead of speaking to them, Houthi militia shot them dead and left the building.

About 30 minutes later Houthi militia returned. They first fired a tear gas canister into the hangar and then they fired a missile into the hangar. It is not clear if this was thrown or fired from a shoulder-held launcher.

At least 400 died at the scene from the explosion or from the ensuing fire.

Another 500 were taken to hospitals in Sana'a to treat injuries from the fire.

At least 43 died in hospital within 24 hours.

To avoid the truth about the nature of the atrocity and its extent becoming known, Houthi militia bribed survivors with 100,000 Yemen Riyal to keep quiet about the number who were killed and to claim the explosion and fire were due to a missile fired in a Saudi air strike. They guarded hospitals and removed migrants from cleaning jobs in hospitals to avoid news getting out.

Large numbers (estimates were up to 1000) of migrants were taken out of Sana'a towards Aden within two days of the attack.

There were believed to be about 7000 detained migrants in several detention centres in Sana'a.

Surprisingly Yemen still attracts migrants. On 3 March at least 20 died off the Djibouti coast from a boat carrying over 200, including minors. The people-smugglers shouted there were too many on the boat and simply threw 80 overboard.

Abuses in Tigray recorded in UK Parliamentary Debate proceedings

Labour MP for Dulwich and West Norwood, Helen Hayes, listed the evidence for egregious human rights abuses by Ethiopian soldiers, Amhara militia and Eritrean soldiers in Tigray in the UK House of Commons on 25 March, in a debate 'Conflict in Tigray Region of Ethiopia'. In the absence of James Duddridge, Minister for Africa, Ms Hayes was answered by the Minister for the Middle East and North Africa, James Cleverly. The written account is in Hansard and Ms Hayes' presentation may be viewed on Facebook.

LATE NEWS

Ethnic cleansing by Amhara militia continues in Wollo and Metekel: more villages in Wallega destroyed by government soldiers

Immediately before publication (4 April) Gadado sent information about continuing destruction of Oromo villages in Oromia Special Zone, Amhara Region, and in Metekel, Benishangul-Gumuz Region, by Amhara militia; driving more Oromo out in acts of ethnic cleansing.

Arba Wayu village, Jille Dhuguma district, was razed to the ground on 25 March. A video clip of the destruction was at least temporarily accessible. On the same day, the Jille district school at Wesen Qurqur (above), site of killings and burning one week previously, see pp.9-10) was destroyed. Another video was sent, accessible on publication. Chalia village in Metekel is shown left after Amhara militia burned it down on 28 March.

In W Wallega, eight homes in Lalisa, Ganji district, were destroyed by Ethiopia Defence Forces on 29 March, see below.

Warnings of impending genocide

Ethnic cleansing of Oromo from Amhara and Benishangul Regions by Amhara militia and the destruction of villages in Wallega and Guji by government soldiers are a chilling indication of Ethiopian government intentions.

As this report went to press, films of frenzied attacks by Amhara militia on Oromo in Wollo came to light. The ferocity of these attacks and the vitriolic misinformation about Oromo and the OLF on Amhara social media and some national media is reminiscent of Interharamwe hate speech in Rwanda leading up to the genocide in 1994.

On 4 April, residents in Ambo, W Showa, and Nekemte, E Wallega, reported large numbers of new young faces in the towns. The demography of the towns is changing as youngsters flee from the countryside because of the likelihood that they will be killed if they stay in their villages. This is unprecedented.

In times of increasing economic hardship and unemployment, in a milieu of hate speech against Oromo and the unleashing of uncontrolled Amhara militia, the possibility of genocide in Ethiopia is growing exponentially.

Attempts to allow Oromo people a political voice by OLF and OFC politicians have been met with detention. Even a 39 day hunger strike by Hamza Borana, Bekele Gerba, Jawar Mohammed (above) and others failed to secure the release of political prisoners.
